FOREWORD

"The days will grow to weeks, the weeks to months,

The months will add themselves and make the years,

The years will roll into centuries

Still memory from old habit of the mind

Will come slipping back upon the golden days."

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

From the drama of life let us now snatch four scenes from the Act of High School Days.

There is a little Freshman girl and boy of 1926. Look, she is wearing a bow of ribbon on her hair, and he has on knee breeches. The little girl has been crying. She perhaps couldn't find the way to her class. Imagine the humiliation when she bumped into a teacher. Despite the fact that they were ignorant, that they had just entered high school, they won the prize for the best float, and also a cup for the best class stunt. They had no president, for the different classes did not meet in those days.

In their Sophomore year, they were not confronted with the same difficulties. Some called them "wise fools," but it is only natural after being ignorant to be a fool. This year the girl's basket ball team won every game that they played. They had on their team such athletic girls as Mary Love, Myrtle Monroe, and Lorene Baker. Of course, there are many others whom the Sophomore boy and girl took great pride in even remembering. But happiness does not last always. The death of their esteemed principal, Mr. Frank B. John, brought sadness to the hearts of the boy and girl. They were fortunate enough to have separate class meetings, and they elected for their president, Webster Collett. This year was followed by a more successful one.

Now we find our friends important Juniors. She is wearing high heels, while he has extended the length of his trousers; and he takes all the pains in the world to keep his hair as slick as glass. Let us look at the outstanding events of this year. Four people from their class were elected for the National Honor Society. This number was the greatest number ever chosen from a Junior class. It also happened that these four members were girls. The "Checker Board Twins" came out on top at the Senior Carnival with a big silver cup. This boy and girl put across the biggest and best Junior-Senior banquet that has ever been known. They will doubtless remember the immense banquet hall, Boyden's famous orchestra, which is known the world over, the beautiful decorations, and the gorgeous display of evening gowns and beauty. But the president, Kenneth Goodson, must be mentioned. He was a president who was well liked and was elected for president of the Senior Class. We will continue to the last happy year.

This year was a busy one for our friends. Perhaps some Vergil would compare them to ants hurrying up and down the corridors. All history has its famous lovers, and their history was not an exception. I suppose, even you, have seen them crooning in almost every corner and in the library. Just to mention a few who will never be forgotten—there are Grace Sasseen and Curtis Williamson, Jane Toms and Sink Walser, LeVerne Usher and Morris Taylor, and many others.

This year the student congress was held in their school. To mention the Debating Team, it will be remembered that the affirmative composed of Maxine Vogely and Miriam Stevenson, won here debating with Asheville, while the Negative, composed of Charles Irvin Brady and Grace Monroe, won in Charlotte. They succeeded in getting to Chapel Hill, but lost out there in the semi-finals. For us their fame as debaters shall never die. It makes their hearts beat to hear the names of such Herculean athletes as Bob McQuage, Joe Gardner, Webb Collett, and Pat Reeves. There are also other great athletes. There are orators, debaters, dancers, statesmen, wives, husbands, those with dramatic talent and those who will perhaps be artists. There is surely among the group of brilliant boys and girls a Vergil, a Cicero, a John Barrymore, a Phelps, even, and others who excel in other fields of art.

Now you have seen the act of High School days; but there is another act in which I am sure you will be just as interested so let's go "On With The Show!"

DE NEAL OWEN, Historian

STATISTICS OF THE CLASS OF '30

Shakespeare says: "A man in bis time plays many parts, bis act being seven ages." The Senior class of Boyden High School is leaving one age and entering another. We are all merely small boats, pushed along by the stream of Fate. Sometimes we go fast, other times, slow, but always, we move onward. The Great Audience would, perhaps, like to know a little about the young actors of the stage called future business.

The Senior Class of Salisbury High School is not so large, compared to the number of students of the other classes, but it is the ruling body of the school.

As to the physical strength this class contains more athletes than any other class.

The Senior Class is the dignity of the High School. To back these words we have: George Harris, Richard Bradshaw, and Julian Smith.

In the way of beauty its girls are rivalled by the girls of the Junior Class only.

The Senior Class also contains the cuteness of the High School. Just glance at Max West, Miriam Proctor, and our dear little Charles Brady.

We have, in the midst of this august body, the two who set the styles for the High School. They are George Harris and Ethel Arey.

The leaders in the dramatics of this institution of learning are: Margaret Smith, Grace Sasseen, Maxine Vogely, Roy Beaver, Harry Buford, Kenneth Goodson and Charles Ervin Brady. These are all members of the class of '30.

Probably you would like to know something about the average members of this illustrious group.

The average boy is seventeen years of age and has freckles. He owns three suits of clothes and wears a seven and a half shoe. He has been in High School four years and has spent eleven years in the Salisbury School System. He expects to go to college.

The average girl is sixteen years of age and has freckles. She wears a number five shoe and does not know how many dresses she possesses. She has been in high school four years, has spent ten years in the Salisbury School System and does not know whether she is going to college or not. We suppose she will, provided some poor boy does not "get hooked" before time for the average girl to enter college.

Every class has its leaders, but have you ever before found in any one class such debaters as Miriam Stevenson, Maxine Vogely, and Charles Ervin Brady? Such athletes as "Hack" McQuage, "Pat" Reeves, and Joe Gardner? Such executives as Margaret Smith, Webster Collett, and Kenneth Goodson? Such workers as Elsie Broadway and Arnold Deal? and such a clown as "Coot" Smith? I doubt it.

Francis Tarrii, Statistician

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

"All the world's a stage, all the men and women merely players." My friends, as time has passed, as it has the habit of doing, so has the "Show of Life" continued on through the years. No all of the performers are not acting on the stage of a theatre but they are acting on the "Stage of the World." Some are acting the part of lawyers, some doctors, and others still different professions as you shall see.

Roy David Beaver and Kenneth Goodson have become honest lawyers, but, in spite of this fact, they are making a great deal of money.

Maddrey Cooke, Edwin Kirkman, and Agnes Greene have become doctors; Coy Miller, a preacher, while Lillian Wright has become an undertaker. It is sufficient to say that these people co-operate at all times.

Some of our former class-mates have desired to be little birdies and have, therefore, taken up the great art of aviation. Those so inclined are Arnold Deal, Harley Canup, Holmes Taylor, Mildred DeWeese, and Curtis Williamson, who told me with great pride that he was piloting a mail plane over the mountainous and dangerous route between Salisbury and Granite Quarry.

Some of the "fairer sex" have taken upon their frail shoulders the tremendous task of beautifying feminine faces, also the homes of our city, by opening up many beauty parlors and interior decorating establishments. Those playing these parts are: Delma Ritchie, Ida Mae Surratt, Mable Parker, Ethel Arey, Willie Swicegood, Louise Pennington, and Mavis Fricke.

Pearl Hoffner, Katie Baker. Vernie Hoffner, Annie Mae Gantt, Mary Love, and Annie Sink are playing important parts as nurses at Johns Hopkins, St. Luke's, and the Salisbury hospital.

Those playing the part of teachers are: Frances Cooke, Thelma Bringle, Jewel Folger, La Verne Usher, and De Neal Owen while Robert (Hack) McQuage is coaching at Notre Dame and Sink Walser at Yale.

Webster Collett is president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company while George Harris is vice-president. Ruth Sifford, Stamey Lefler, and Oscar Shuping are book-keepers. Chalmers Ludwig, Nellie Miller, and Frances Goodman are tellers at the same bank.

Harry Buford is the owner of the most daring revue on Broadway. In his stupendous productions are such perfect exponents of feminine grace and beauty as Garnette Moore, (who by the way has just married the handsome son of Flo Ziegfield). Anzonetta Fisher, Rachel Heilig, and Faye Anthony. Cecil Poole is holding down the highly prized position of stage manager.

The most famous jazz band in the world is conducted by Bill Morgan. Adelene Drake handles the piano in approved style; Joe Farrington plays a cornet, and Edger Hodge irritates a trumpet while Lewis Lancaster warbles, accompanied by Lorene Beaver, and Josephine Miller.

Marvin Kluttz is a big cotton broker while Julian Krider has made a fortune specializing in stocks and has retired. Kenneth Clarke is a big "Butcher and Egg man" who still prefers blondes.

Max West and Robert Reeves, the great movie producers, successors to the Warner Brothers, have at last made stars of the following stage beauties: Jane Toms, Elizabeth Price, Margaret Smith, Miriam Stevenson, Grace Sasseen, Miriam Procter, and Maxine Vogely. (Too bad girls—both of these great men are married and have settled down to a quiet and peaceful life).

Ruby Ennis and Dema Iddings are employed as stenographers in the office of the Non-Skid Soap Company, owned and operated by Hubert Thomason.

Marie Hipp is now a prominent member of the Utah State Legislature.

Sanford Davis, Irene Zum Brunnen, Sue Sprinkle, and Willie Sue Aldridge are now singing for the inmates of the Colorado State Institution for the deaf and dumb.

Paul Brady, Raymond Dalton, and Grover Willard have become radio bugs.

Craig Purcell and James Bennett are running dude ranches for Drug Store Cowboys and Lounge Lizzards while Leo Wallace is selling machines used to grind smoke.

Francis Tarrh and Joe Gardner are partners as civil engineers and are enjoying great success in South America, while the former physics sharks, namely Rufus Safrit, Emmett Cruse, Arthur Crowell and Ray Daniel have taken to electricity like ducks take to water. They are howling successes.

Richard Bradshaw and Hubert Wagoner are great successes as construction engineers.

Paul Pinkston, Elsie Broadway, Ruth Daniel, Morris Taylor, and Van Barker have become the staff of the New York Times while Lee Trexler has amassed a fortune as the originator of the nation's most popular comic strip.

Charles Irvin Brady is a first class salesman with a line of choice jokes for every occasion.

Margaret Lemly, Lorene Baker, Elizabeth Brown, and Myrtle Monroe are dietitians at the Salisbury hospital.

Ray Elliott is the general manager of all the Charles' Stores in America and is bravely fighting old man Henderson's son.

Mary Branch has been married for several years and is the president of the Woman's club. Agnes Peterson, who is also married, is the secretary of the above mentioned club. They are now planning to aid the "rooster picked" wives of Salisbury.

Lucille Eagle, Carrie Lentz, Louella Myers and Margaret Lippard are traveling extensively in Europe, while Eugenia Stoessel has married an influential politician and her sister Margaret is the wife of a wealthy financier.

So my friends, in this "act of the future" as the scenes have changed from place to place, you have seen your former class mates in the roles of the industrial, domestic, and social leaders of the United States.

Julian Smith, Prophet

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

Hark Ye: The time is here for quietness; when, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for a very successful unit, known as the class of 1930, to make their last will and testament, dignity should prevail.

There are numerous things made famous by the class of 1930 but, because time permits, only a portion of them will be mentioned.

There are many who have entered in the hearts of the students of this class because they have rendered some great service to us.

THEREFORE:

WE, the class of 1930 of Boyden High School, Salisbury, N. C., boasting good health of body and mind and believing ourselves entirely capable of preparing provisions for the future disposition of our worldly goods, do sieze the present time to leave the charges to our trustworthy executives. May they develop them for the best interest of our dear old Boyden High.

FIRST: We wish to leave the dearest of all thoughts to our parents who have given us all in their power to make our high school career a success.

SECOND: We leave to the faculty all good wishes for the incoming seniors and hope that they will be better pleased with the class of '31 than they were with the class of '30. To these loyal teachers we leave, also, all of our thanks for their safe guidance through Boyden High.

THIRD: To our dear friend, Mr. Knox, we leave all of our success and hope that he may use it for the betterment of Boyden High.

FOURTH: To our faithful janitors we leave no trash on the floor—much.

FIFTH: Beauty is rare. Only a few possess it, and among those few is Faye Anthony who wills hers to Margaret Cline.

SIXTH: Elizabeth Price and George Harris leave the dignity of the senior class which rests upon their shoulders to Leo Wilhelm and Virginia Clarke.

SEVENTH: Webster Collett, our beloved president, leaves to James Lacy Hurst, newly elected president, everything that it takes for success. It is very evident that Web. possesses these qualities.

Eighth: Popularity is indeed a noble possession and, under the seal of the class of 1930, Margaret Smith leaves her popularity to Kitty Pierce.

NINTH: Bob McQuage, Boyden High's great athlete leaves his athletic ability, and his ability to "make the ladies" to none other than Wilburn "Chunker" Newsome.

TENTH: Be it known that the sidewalk from the flag pole to street was willed by the class of '29 to Harry Buford and Kitty Pierce, (this to be an annual affair) but, because of Harry's awful technique they will all rights of said sidewalk to the two "love doves," Homer Lucas and Rochelle Luther.

ELEVENTH: Be it known that the pride of the senior class which rests in the head of Roy Beaver is bestowed to Roy's dear friend Lewis Peeler.

TWELFTH: "Coot" Smith, the nuts of the senior class, bestows all his wit to anyone crazy enough to accept it.

THIRTEENTH: Our bad luck we give to no one. But in case this article contains good luck we leave it to the hard working tennis shark, Ed. Miller.

FOURTEENTH: Francis Tarrh, "Boyden High's Famed Orator," leaves his ability to convince that his man is "THE Man" to Archibald Rufty. Mr. Rufty has been begging for it for weeks.

FITTEENTH: Because of his recent contract with the China Grove Record, Maddrey Cooke gives his newpaper knowledge to Evelyn Arey.

SIXTEENTH: The book knowledge of the senior class which rests in the head of Charles Irvin Brady is hereby given to Leo Arey.

SEVENTEENTH: Sue Sprinkle and Van Barker, the laziest members of the senior class, give all their energy to Luther Tarlton whom we hope will use it to perfect science in a bigger field.

EIGHTEENTH: To Harry Livingood, the great pianist, we leave the hope that he will entertain millions and we feel sure he will if he only lets his hair grow out.

NINETEENTH: Now to the Freshman, the class of '30 gives their best advice—"stay out of love."

TWENTIETH: About these Sophomores, we leave with them the thought that they can be licked if necessary.

TWENTY-FIRST: To the Juniors, we hope that they realize (a realization in which we failed) the responsibility of being a senior and that upon their shoulders will rest the burden of the school.

TWENTY-SECOND: As a token of our love and loyalty to our dear Alma Mater we hereby bequeath the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars which is to be added to the Frank Bell John Memorial Fund.

TWENTY-THIRD: Whereas the show is about to close and,

Whereas all things are revealed by the good or bad, we the class of 1930, leave to our dear high school, those who walk in halls, pupils and faculty alike, the sincere hope for a bigger and better Boyden High. May those to come profit by our mistakes.

Hereupon, we the aforsaid class of 1930 do affix our signature and seal to this, our Last Will And Testament, May the twenty-third in the year of our Lord Nineteen Hundred and Thirty and do hereby appoint as sole executor of this great document Mr. Bernie Barton Calhoun Kesler.

CLASS POEM

A DREAM

The bugle of life has called us from sleep Where we were dreaming of things quite deep, Too deep to realize that the dream had to end Leaving a heart, wounded with memories, that will never mend.

Now this dream was a beautiful thing; In it we would love, win, lose, laugh, and sing. Of course, there were sorrows, mixed with this life, Which were soon forgotten and passed by without strife.

In this dream we made friends—friends that are true— Whom we now must leave—sad for me and for you To think that we'll each go a different way, Maybe, never again to meet until on that Beautiful Day.

In this dream we developed from a child to a man; So that we can now look at life and understand That there is a task on this earth that we must do, And that to God and our fellow men we must be true.

From this dream, each woman or man who awakens this year Will have a love in his heart which prompts him to still linger near. Now this era, which has ended, was the making of us a!l, And—regretting—we leave to answer life's bugle call.

SENIOR SNAPSHOTS

JUNIOR CLASS

For a long time Boyden High School had desired very much to become the outstanding school of the south and it seems that the class of 1931 brought the talent that was needed to bring about a realization of such desires.

In regard to musical talents, who could entertain the public to a greater extent than Jack Harrison and his Harmony Boys? Also one of the greatest productions of the class is Frances Dyer as Helen Kane the second. The two famous piano players of Boyden High School are so noted that they can be classed with Schubert. Who are they? Elizabeth Wright and Lewis Morris. Both are Juniors.

Who is it that everyone would rather see play the part of the heroine in a play? No one but Kitty Pearce. We have in Thornwell Furr a real playwright and actor too. Was it not he who won the individual stunt cup at the famous Senior Carnival? He belongs to the class of 1931.

The Junior stunt presented at this same carnival caused the judges much labor. The talent of Charles Henry Hodges, Paul Ryan, Alma Hedrick and Edith Newbury was especially outstanding.

The Junior-Senior banquet of the year 1930 was the best in the history of B. H. S. Who made it? The Juniors.

Who nearly choked to death on crackers at the indoor track meet? Ethel Wyrick. Who won the meet? Naturally the class of 1931.

So now you see why B. H. S. is the outstanding high school of the south.

SOPHOMORES

Hurrah for the Sophomores!

When the class of 1932 came to Boyden High there was much rejoicing among the faculty and the student body because they realized that this class was to be the most outstanding and celebrated one of the century. Their expectations have been well fulfilled.

The cup given for the best class stunt at the Senior Carnival was won by this group, both in their Freshman and Sophomore years. This year is the first time in the history of the Carnival that any class has won over the Freshman.

The Sophomores have members who are outstanding in various activities of the school. In athletics: Alvin Goodman, Clifford Harrison, Herman Hunt, Charlie Chase, Jack Busby, and Rudclph Walser. Hayden Clement, Rudolph Walser, Sarah Proctor and Neely McCubbins are the Sophomore debaters. Sousa has been asking for the services of Pitts Hudson and John Fox. Wilda Mae Yingling is declared to be a glorious second Paderewski. A glorious future is predicted for Thomas Warner because of his voice—and if you haven't seen Jimmie Cuthrell and Elizabeth McKinney dance, you've mi.sed a treat.

DEBATING

The senior debating team has had, during 1929-30, the best season in its history. After dual meets were held with Greensboro on the subject of a single six year presidential term by the senior club, and immediate independence to Filipinos by sophomore-juniors' club, all attention was turned toward the annual triangular debate, held this year between Charlotte, Asheville, and Salisbury.

The query was "Resolved: That North Carolina should adopt the proposed constitutional amendment, authorizing the classification of property for taxation." After stiff competition, Charles Irvin Brady, Grace Monroe, Maxine Vogely, and Miriam Stevensen were selected to represent Salisbury, the latter composing the affirmative; the former, the negative.

The local negative went to Charlotte while the affirmative debated Asheville here. For the second time in the history of Salisbury High School both teams were victorious and won the right to compete for the Aycock Cup in the state contest. At Chapel Hill the debaters fared well. The affirmative team went to the semi-finals where it was eliminated by Goldsboro.

Too much credit can not be given the four debaters and to their coaches—Mr. B. B. C. Kesler, Miss Dorie Lee Wells, and Miss Lillian Morris, who rendered invaluable assistance.

Next season bids fair to be even more prosperous, one triangular debater returning and a strong team from the sophomore-junior club coming up.

MASK AND WIG CLUB

The "Mask and Wig Club," under the direction of Miss Emma Marston, has had a successful year. Kitty Pearce was president, supported by Charles E. Brady, vice-president, Miriam Stevenson secretary, and Maddrey Cooke, treasurer.

In the early spring the club put on two one-act plays, "The Boor" and "The Knave of Hearts." The latter was entered in the state dramatic contest. The club finished the season with "Polly With a Past," a snappy three-act play.

STUDENT ORGANIZATION

This year has brought to a close the third full year that Student Participation has existed in Boyden High. It has grown from its infancy into a smoothly working organization that has had the full support of the entire student body.

The student organization has been recognized throughout the state as a successful school in Student Participation. In recognition of this success, it was voted last year at the Student Congress, in Asheville, to hold their yearly meeting in 1929 in Boyden High School. It was a great honor for an Organization, in its third year, and due to the whole hearted co-operation of all the students and student officers (not to forget the faculty) the meeting was a decided success.

This year has also seen something new in Student Councils. Besides the regular council there is a sub-council, composed of all home room chairmen, that meets with the regular council every other meeting. This year the regular student council was composed of: Webster Collett, president; Archibald Rufty, vice-president; Robert Reeves, secretary; Lewis Peeler, treasurer. The other members are: Kenneth Goodson, Leander Mauldin, James Monroe, Elmer Hoke, Lorene Baker, Joe Gardner, Margaret Sullivan, Jack Garrison, Ed Miller, Claudia Harrison, Ruby Eagle, James Trexler, Richard Bradshaw, Anzonetta Fisher, George Harris, Mazine Vogely, George Morris Taylor, Margaret Smith, Agnes Peterson, Raymond Dalton, Max West, Leo Wilhelm, Alma Hedrick, Elizabeth Price, Harry Buford.

GIRL RESERVES

The Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A. are divided into two groups: the Junior-Senior or Sterling Worth Group under the direction of Miss Pauline Harris; and the Freshman-Sophomore or Pure Gold Group under the direction of Miss Annie Lane Cartledge. Beginning with this year, these groups have been meeting at school on alternate Wednesdays.

An outstanding work of each group was a Christmas pageant given by the Sterling Worth Girl Reserves and an Easter pageant given by the Pure Gold Reserves. Both were directed by Miss Jessie Thompson.

Mrs. John Hadley has acted as chairman of both groups and has assisted the members in giving various programs.

GLEE CLUB—ORCHESTRA—BAND

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The music department has increased greatly this year both in size and in quality of work.

Various groups of the department have presented concerts, assembly programs, and programs for banquets and civic gatherings. The pupils have won great recognition and praise for the splendid work which they have accomplished.

The Band and Orchestra gave a series of seven concerts in the County High Schools, the proceeds of which went into the band uniform fund. Five students of the department won honorable mention in the State Music Contest. They are: Nelle Lancaster, Bill Tiernan, Lewis Lancaster, John Fox, and Bill Morgan.

The final public performance of the year by the Chorus was the presentation of "Betty Lou," a comic operetta in three acts.

Freshman Chorus classes were organized for the first time this year—first semester, boys' Chorus, and second semester, girls' Chorus. The members of these groups have exhibited excellent work in the presentation of Assembly programs.

ART CLASS

Much interest has been manifested this year in the Art Class, although this is a new department in school. Fun, as well as more serious work, has been featured in the class, which was interesting as well as educational. It has been very successful in its work so far, and it is hoped that it will be more so in the years following. In the art class are thirty members who hope to stick together and be of great service to Salisbury High School.

BASKETBALL

The basketball squad was composed mostly of rookies, with only four experienced players. Under the direction of Coach Wood a smooth running team was developed around Captain Collett, the center. After two or three weeks of practice, the season opened with High Point in that city.

Boyden High was not as successful in basketball as in football, but the team of next year will have experience and, no doubt, will show more ability than this season's.

The team scored a total of 367 points, with an average of 29 a game. Bob McQuage led the individual scoring with 157 points; Captain Collett was second with 92.

David Julian, star guard, was elected captain of the 1931 aggregation.

BASEBALL

As the annual goes to press the first of May, the baseball schedule has not yet been completed, but indications of early season games point to a very successful season.

The team is composed mostly of regulars from last year's squad, these forming the nucleus of the club and making one of the smoothest working combinations ever known in the history of the school.

The team is very strong in hitting. Carl Bernhardt is leading the batting with an average of .496. He has gone to the bat forty-three times and gathered twenty-one hits. Captain Baker is running him a close race with an average of .420.

The club is on a fifty-fifty basis in the Class A Conference Standing, winning five and losing five. It is really a fine record for the first year in the conference to end in third position.

Basketball is B. H. S.'s strongest sport for girls even though this year's team was not as successful as many previous ones. They did not win the district championship, but they developed a strong team for next season.

A point system, worked out by the state committee is used so any girl is able to win a school letter. The requirements are two hundred points, a star is given for an additional hundred points; and a state monogram for four hundred points.
